A. COPYRIGHT

1. You hereby assign to the American Academy of Pain Medicine, during the full term of copyright and any extensions or renewals, all copyright in and to the Article that has been accepted for publication ("the Article"), and all rights therein, including but not limited to the right to publish, republish, transmit, sell, distribute and otherwise use the Article in whole or in part in electronic and print editions of the Journal and in derivative works throughout the world, in all languages, and in all media of expression now known or later developed, and to license or permit others to do so.

2. You may reproduce, post, transmit or otherwise distribute the Article and any updates or revisions to the Article, in whole or in part, only as permitted by this Agreement and only with an appropriate citation to the Journal and an appropriate credit to the American Academy of Pain Medicine and Wiley-Blackwell as Publisher. Such citation and credit should be as follows: "[Title of Article] was first published in [Volume/Issue] Pain Medicine, Copyright © [year]. Pain Medicine is published by Wiley-Blackwell, Inc. on behalf of the American Academy of Pain Medicine." Links to the final article on Wiley-Blackwell's website are encouraged where appropriate.

B. RETAINED RIGHTS

Notwithstanding the above, you or, if applicable, your Employer, retain any proprietary rights other than copyright, such as patent rights, in any process, procedure or article of manufacture described in the Article.

C. PERMITTED USES BY CONTRIBUTOR

1. Submitted Version. AAPM licenses back to you in the version of the Article originally submitted for publication:

- After publication of the final published version, the right to self-archive on your personal website or in your institution's/employer's institutional repository or archive. This right extends to both intranets and the Internet. The Contributor may not update the submitted version or replace it with the published Contribution. The version posted must contain a legend as follows: This is the pre-peer-reviewed version of the following article: FULL CITE, which has been published in final form at [Link to final article].

- At any time, the right to transmit, print and share copies with colleagues.

2. Accepted Version. Re-use of the accepted and peer-reviewed (but not final) version of the Article shall be by separate agreement with Wiley-Blackwell. Requests for permission should be addressed to the Wiley-Blackwell permissions department at permissionsuk@wiley.com. Wiley-Blackwell has agreements with certain funding agencies governing re-use of this version. The details of those relationships and other offerings allowing open web use are set forth at the following website: <http://www.wiley.com/go/funderstatement>. NIH grantees should check the box at the bottom of this document.

3. Final Published Version. AAPM hereby licenses back to you the following rights with respect to the final published version of the Article:

- Copies for colleagues. Your personal right to send or transmit individual copies of the final published version in any format to colleagues upon their specific request, provided that no fee is charged, and further provided that there is no systematic distribution of the Article, e.g. posting on a listserve, website or automated delivery.
- Re-use in other publications. The right to re-use the final Article or parts thereof for any publication authored or edited by you (excluding journal articles) where such re-used material constitutes less than half of the total material in such publication. In such case, any modifications should be accurately noted.
- Teaching duties. The right to include the Article in teaching or training duties at your institution/place of employment including in course packs, e-reserves, presentation at professional conferences, in-house training, or distance learning. The Article may not be used in seminars outside of normal teaching obligations (e.g. commercial seminars). You may post the Article electronically in connection with teaching/training at your institution/place of employment, subject to the implementation of reasonable access control mechanisms, such as user name and password. You may not post the final published version on the Internet.
- Oral presentations. The right to make oral presentations based on the Article.

Other uses of the Final Published Version may be made by separate arrangement, which may require the payment of a fee. Please contact permissionsuk@wiley.com for information or click on "Request Permission" on the article's abstract page on Wiley-Blackwell's website.

4. Article Abstracts, Figures, Tables, Data Sets, Artwork and Selected Text (up to 250 words).

- You may re-use unmodified abstracts for any non-commercial purpose. For on-line uses of the abstracts, AAPM encourages, but does not require, linking back to the final published versions.
- You may re-use figures, tables, data sets, artwork, and selected text of up to 250 words from the Article, provided that you meet the following conditions:
  - Full and accurate credit must be given to the Contribution – as set forth in paragraph A-2.
  - Modifications to the figures, tables and data must be noted. Otherwise, no changes may be made.
  - The re-use may not be made for direct commercial purposes, or for other financial consideration.
- Nothing herein shall permit dual publication in violation of Journal ethical practices.

D. ARTICLES OWNED BY EMPLOYER

1. If you wrote the Article in the course of your employment (as a "work-made-for-hire"), the Article may be owned by the company/employer which must sign this Agreement (in addition to your signature) in the space provided below. In such case, the company/employer hereby assigns to the AAPM, during the full term of copyright, all copyright in and to the Article for the full term of copyright throughout the world as specified in paragraph A above.

2. In addition to the rights specified as retained in paragraph B above and the rights granted back to you pursuant to paragraph C above, the AAPM hereby grants back, without charge, to such company/employer, its subsidiaries and divisions, the right to make copies of and distribute the final published Article internally in print format or electronically on the Company's internal network. Copies so used may not be resold or distributed externally. However, the company/employer may include information and text from the Article as part of an information package included with software or other products offered for sale or license or included in patent applications. Posting of the final published Article by the institution on a public access website may only be done with Wiley-Blackwell's written permission and payment of any applicable fee(s). Please contact permissionsuk@wiley.com for information. Also, upon payment of Wiley-Blackwell's reprint fee, the institution may distribute print copies of the published Article externally.

E. GOVERNMENT CONTRACTS

In the case of a Article prepared under U.S. Government contract or grant, the U.S. Government may reproduce, without charge, all or portions of the Article and may authorize others to do so, for official U.S. Government purposes only, if the U.S. Government contract or grant so requires. (U.S. Government, U.K. Government, and other government employees: see notes at end).

F. COPYRIGHT NOTICE

You and your company/employer agree that any and all copies of the final published version of the Article or any part thereof distributed or posted by them in print or electronic format as permitted herein will include the notice of copyright as stipulated in the Journal and a full citation to the Journal as published by Wiley-Blackwell in accordance with paragraph A-2.

G. REPRESENTATIONS

1. You hereby represent and warrant that the Article is your original work, that all individuals identified as authors actually contributed to the Article, and that all individuals who contributed to the Article are properly identified. If the Manuscript was prepared jointly, you will inform the other authors of the terms of this Agreement and either obtain their signature to this agreement or obtain their written permission to execute this agreement on their behalf.

2. You further represent and warrant that the Contribution is submitted only to this Journal and has not been published before. (If excerpts from copyrighted works owned by third parties are included, you will obtain written permission from the copyright owners for all uses as set forth in Wiley-Blackwell's permissions form or in the Journal's Instructions for Contributors, and show credit to the sources in the Contribution.)

3. You also represent and warrant that the Article contains no libelous or unlawful statements, does not infringe upon the rights (including without limitation the copyright, patent or trademark rights) or the privacy of others, or contain material or instructions that might cause harm or injury.

H. SIGNATURES

All authors must sign below or if an author is not able to sign, then the corresponding author may obtain their written permission to execute this agreement on their behalf. One ownership box must be checked for all authors except that NIH grantees should check both the Contributor-owned work and the NIH grantee box. If your Article was written during the course of your employment, your employer must also sign where indicated.

☐ U.S. Government work

Note to U.S. Government Employees

A contribution prepared by a U.S. federal government employee as part of the employee's official duties, or which is an official U.S. Government publication, is called a "U.S. Government work," and is in the public domain in the United States. In such case, the employee may cross out Paragraph A. 1 but must sign (in the Contributor's signature line) and return this Agreement. If the Contribution was not prepared as part of the employee's duties or is not an official U.S. Government publication, it is not a U.S. Government work.

☐ U.K. Government work
(Crown Copyright)

Note to U.K. Government Employees

The rights in a Contribution prepared by an employee of a U.K. government department, agency or other Crown body as part of his/her official duties, or which is an official government publication, belong to the Crown. U.K. government authors should submit a signed declaration form together with this Agreement. The form can be obtained via <http://www.opsi.gov.uk/advice/crown-copyright/copyright-guidance/publication-of-articles-written-by-ministers-and-civil-servants.htm>

☐ Other Government work

Note to Non-U.S., Non-U.K. Government Employees

If your status as a government employee legally prevents you from signing this Agreement, please contact the editorial office.

☐ NIH Grantees

Note to NIH Grantees

Pursuant to NIH mandate, Wiley-Blackwell will post the accepted version of Contributions authored by NIH grant-holders to PubMed Central upon acceptance. This accepted version will be made publicly available 12 months after publication. For further information, see www.wiley.com/go/nihmandate.
